Massa's in De Cold Groun.
Round de meadow am a-rin'g
De darkey's mournful song,
While the meadow bird am singin',
Happy as de day am long.
Where de ivy am a-creepin',
O'er the grassy mound,
De darkey's am a-sleepin',
Sleepin' in de cold, cold groun'.

When de autumn leaves were fallin',
When de days was cold,
'Twas hard to hear ole massa callin',
Cayse he wuz so weak.
Now de orange trees am bloomin',
O'er de sandy shore,
Now de summer days am comin',
Massa nebbin' calls no more.

Massa make de darkeys lub him,
Cayse he wuz so kin',
Now, dey sadly weep abou him,
Mournin' cayse he let dem bein'.
I cannot wink befo to-morrow,
Cayse de tear drop flow;
Now I try to drive 'way sorrow,
'Pickin' on de ole banjo.

CHORUS.
Down in corn-fiel',
Hear dat mournful 'soun',
All de darkeys am a-weepin',
Massa's in de cold, cold groun'.

Dunlop—Warfield.

The wedding of Miss Julia Anthony Warfield to Mr. Richard Alexander Dunlop, was celebrated Wednesday, April 25th, at 7 o'clock P. M., in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Julian Ingle, brother-in-law of the groom, assisted by the Rev. Robert Forsyth, the rector of St. Paul's, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of the late Colonel William Pleasant Anthony, and is related to the Cabells, Jordans and other historic Virginia families. She is a descendant of the Rev. Robert Rose, the first person buried in old St. John's Churchyard also of the Fitzhughs. She is a Colonial Dame and Daughter of the Confederacy. Mr. Dunlop is a son of the late James Dunlop, for many years owner and proprietor of the famous Dunlop flour mills. He is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and member of the Westmoreland and other social clubs of Richmond.

The church was handsomely decorated in palms and flowers and Professor Reinhardt was at the organ. Mr. Frank Dunlop, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Charles Selden, Mr. Egbert Leigh, Judge R. Carter Scott, Hon. George Wayne Anderson, Mr. George Fitzhugh, Mr. P. W. Christian and Mr. Charles Davenport.

The bride came in with the groom and was given away by her brother-in-law, Dr. Edward McCarthy. She wore pearl crepe de chine, with elbow sleeves and white gloves, and a hat to match with sweeping algeettes and crushed roses. Her ornaments were pearls and her flowers, a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

There was no reception after ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Dunlop leaving immediately for a Northern trip. When they return they will have rooms for the summer with Mr. Martin, whose country house is beyond the Soldiers' Home, in the West End. Next autumn, they will occupy an apartment at the corner of Sixth and Grace Streets.

Among the members of the family and the out-of-town guests present, were Dr. and Mrs. Edward McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mason, Mrs. James Madison Wise, Mrs. Hargreaves, of Newden, N. C., Mrs. James N. Dunlop, Mr. and Mrs. Walker Gilmer, Miss Bessie Dunlop, Mrs. J. A. Beckinridge, Judge George Beckinridge, Colonel and Mrs. Cary Beckinridge, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Allen, Governor and Mrs. Warfield, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Beale, Judge and Mrs. Robertson, Judge and Mrs. George M. Harrison, Senator Thomas S. Martin, Judge and Mrs. Stafford Whitte, Mr. and Mrs. William Penn, Mr. and Mrs. Plimmer, of Norfolk, Va.

Copeland—Cunningham.

The wedding of Miss Grace Beale Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Cunningham, to Mr. Walter Scott Copeland, was quietly celebrated at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, April 25th, in the home of the bride, No. 102 East Franklin Street, the Rev. John G. Scott, of Hot Springs, Va., officiating.

Floral decorations in green and white were carried out in palms, Easter lilies and white roses. Professor Fred C. Hahr rendered the wedding march, and, during the ceremony, "Love's Dream," from Lohengrin. Only the immediate family of the contracting parties witnessed the nuptials. The bride was gown in white mesaline trimmed with duchess lace.

At 5 o'clock a reception was given to the immediate families, friends and out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Drewry, of Norfolk; Miss Mary Trimble, of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Ruth Neville, of New York, and Miss Grace E. Cascarden, of Philadelphia.

Miller—Frazier.

A very quiet but beautiful wedding celebration of Wednesday afternoon, April 25th, was that of Miss Gladys Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frazier, to Mr. A. Erskine Miller, prominent in the social and business life of Staunton, Va.

The ceremony took place in the home of the bride, No. 87 West, at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. J. J. Gravatt, of Holy Trinity Church, officiating. Only the families of the contracting parties and a few personal friends of the bride and groom were present.

Mrs. Miller is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frazier, and was introduced to Richmond society two years ago. As a debutante, and since, her lovely personality has rendered her not only one of the most admired, but one of the most popular young ladies here and elsewhere in the State. Mr. Miller, socially and from a business standpoint, is one of the best known and most successful men in his section of Virginia.

Royster—McLauchlan.

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, on Lily Hill, when Miss Jessie Myers McLauchlan became the bride of Mr. Junius Stuart Royster, the Rev. R. A. Goodwin, rector of St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church, officiating. The parlor was beautifully decorated with ferns and palms and Miss Mabel Sims presided at the piano.

Miss Estelle Royster, of Washington, was maid of honor to the bride, and Mr. Thomas McLauchlan was best man. The bride wore a chic costume of gray chiffon broadcloth, with Alice blue hat, and carried violets. The maid of honor

PERDITA'S GIFTS.

(From "The Winter's Tale.")

By WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketches, have already been printed in this series.

PERDITA. Here's flowers for you:
Hot lavender, mints, savory, marjoram;
The marigold, that goes to bed with the sun,
And with him rises weeping; these are flowers
Of middle summer, and I think, they are given
To men of middle age: You are very welcome.
Camillo. I should leave grazing, were I of your flock,
And only live by grazing.
Perdita. Out, alas!
You'd be so lean, that blasts of January
Would blow you through and through.—Now, my fairest friend,
I would I had some flowers of the spring, that might Become your time of day; and yours; and yours
That wear upon your virgin branches yet
Your maidenheads growing.—O Proserpina,
For the flowers now, that frightened, thou let'st fall
From Dis's waggon!—daffodils,
That come before the swallow dares, and take
The wing of March with beauty; violets, dlm,
But sweeter than the lids of Juno's eyes,
Or Cytherea's breath; pale primroses,
That die unmarried ere they can behold
Bright Phoebus in his strength, a malady
Most incident to maids; bold oxlips, and
The crown-imperial; lilies of all kinds,
The flower-de-luce being one! O, these I lack
To make you garlands of; and, my sweet friend,
To strew him o'er and o'er.
Florizel. What! like a corse?
Perdita. No, like a bank; for love to lie and play on;
Not like a corse; or if—not to be buried,
But quick, and in mine arms. Come, take your flowers:
Methinks I play as I have seen them do
In Whitsun pastorals: sure, this robe of mine
Does change my disposition.
Florizel. What you do
Still betters what is done. When you speak, sweet,
I'd have you do it ever; when you sing,
I'd have you buy and sell so; give alms;
Pray so; and, for the ordering your affairs,
To sing them too: when you do dance, I wish you
A wave of the sea, that you might ever do
Nothing but that; move still, still so, and own
No other function: each your doing,
So singular in each particular,
Crowns what you are doing in the present deeds,
That all your acts are queens.

wore a dainty gown of white silk mul
wer taffeta and her flowers were La
France roses.

After a Northern tour, Mr. and Mrs. Royster will return to Ashland for the summer, but will make their home in Richmond next year.

A beautiful collection of cut-glass, silver, and bric-a-brac made up the list of bridal gifts from the many friends of the young people.

Mr. Royster is connected with the Southern Bell Telephone Company. He is a native of Richmond, though his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Junius S. Royster, have recently moved to Washington, D. C. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McLauchlan, of No. 18 North Thirtieth Street, and is a very popular member of Church Hill society.

Among the friends who attended from a distance were Mr. Abner Ferguson, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Clifford Oren, of Baltimore; Mrs. M. J. Boehme, of Baltimore; Mrs. George W. Oren, Jr., of Baltimore; Mr. Karl Muller, of Washington, D. C.

Daffron—Kessnich.

The marriage of Miss Pauline Kessnich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kessnich, to Mr. Thomas A. Daffron took place yesterday evening at 6 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, No. 903 East Clay Street. The Right Rev. Bishop Van du Vyver performed the ceremony.

The lower floor of the house was canvased in white, and the parlor and halls were decorated with a profusion of palms and cut flowers. Miss A. Louise Kessnich, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mr. William Hubert Daffron acted as best man.

Little Miss Katherine Boschen and Master Herbert Daffron held the ribbons. The former wore a dainty organdie frock and the latter wore a white Pauntleroy suit.

The bride entered with her father, by whom she was given away. She wore an exquisite gown of white over taffeta, with a tulle veil, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her sister was gown in pink silk collenne made princess, and she carried asparagus fern.

Immediately after the ceremony there was a reception in the home of the bride, No. 903 East Clay Street.

Mrs. Daffron is the daughter of Professor John Kessnich, well-known among the musicians of Richmond. She is a young lady of charming personality, and has many friends here.
